

Direction to the Jordan Hall in Stanford University

Driving:-From San Francisco

(Free parking on the campus after 4PM on Friday and during the weekend at any of the permit A, C, Z parking zone - closest one is on the Oval road as marked) <http://campus-map.stanford.edu>

101 South - off University Ave., go West. This will go straight into the campus which will be Palm Dr. The Jordan Hall at the end of this road.

280 South - Off Sand Hill Rd East, right on Arboretum Rd, right on Palm Dr. You will see the Jordan Hall buildings in front.

By Caltrain - Trains leave 4th St. Townsend every hour. If you catch 8AM train, you will get to Palo Alto 9:01. It will take about 20 min. from the station to the building by walking. Also, check the free shuttle bus <http://transportation.stanford.edu>

Caltrain in weekend might still replace by bus, but with the same schedule.

Dinner will be at LINX on the campus (5 min. walk from the conference)

NOTES:

Conference Location: Stanford University is located in Palo Alto, 30 miles south of San Francisco. The campus is large. Go toward Main Quad, and look for the Jordan Hall (Build. 420). Right side of Jordan Hall is the Sloan (Build. 380, also called as Math build.) Go to the lower level.

Parking will not be so difficult since the permitted parking space will be free after 4:00 PM on Friday through the weekend. The closest one will be at the oval road (permit A zone) in front of the Jordan Hall. Shuttle from the Palo Alto station is available on Friday and weekend after 12:00 noon (sorry, no shuttle on weekend morning). Please check the campus website.

For Hotel accommodation recommendations list and possible transportation from San Francisco and other Bay Area locations, please contact the coordinator.

Please contact the coordinator for any of the above questions.

To contact the coordinator: (415) 282-1908, or (415) 641-4440, e-mail: kazmit@pacbell.net